DR. A. K. PANSARI

Dear Graduates,

It gives me profound pleasure to pen down my reflections for this Memoir, a space that continues to bring me immense joy. The purpose of this publication is to chronicle the many vibrant moments, endeavours, and achievements that shape our journey. From the very beginning, I envisioned this institution as a place that carries the promise of the future—an environment where academic excellence, social awareness, emotional strength, moral grounding, and physical well-being flourish in harmony.

Over the time, the school has witnessed its share of challenges and triumphs, each contributing to its evolution. The world of education continues to transform, and so do we—adapting, innovating, and embracing change with resilience and purpose. At RGS, we view every shift as an opportunity to grow, refine, and remain at the forefront of meaningful learning.

Guided by a vision, anchored in efficiency and with continuous improvement, we remain committed to distinguishing ourselves through thoughtful progress and dynamic development. Our mission of nurturing cultural values, patriotism, sportsmanship, and global-mindedness among our learners remains central to our work. It is our endeavour to provide a platform that shapes confident, compassionate citizens of the world.

This ongoing journey towards excellence is made possible by the dedication of our enthusiastic teachers and the unwavering support of our parents, who remain our most valued partners in education.

Thank you for your trust, commitment, and steadfast support.

Warm regards,

Dr. A. K. Pansari

A. K. MODI

Dear Parents, Students, and Faculty,

It gives me immense pride and heartfelt joy to share my thoughts in this edition of our Memoir. Each time I reflect on our collective journey, I am filled with deep gratitude for the spirit of unity, resilience, and purpose that defines our school community. Together, we continue to shape an environment where growth is constant and success is shared.

Our institution remains steadfast in its commitment to nurturing not only academic excellence but also character, creativity, and critical thinking. This holistic vision is what truly sets us apart. The dedication of our teachers, the enthusiasm of our students, and the unwavering support of our parents form the pillars of our continual progress.

I am reminded of Albert Einstein's timeless words:

“Education is not the learning of facts, but the training of the mind to think.”

At our school, education extends far beyond the boundaries of textbooks. We strive to empower our learners to question, explore, innovate, and evolve—preparing them not merely for examinations but for life in an ever-changing world.

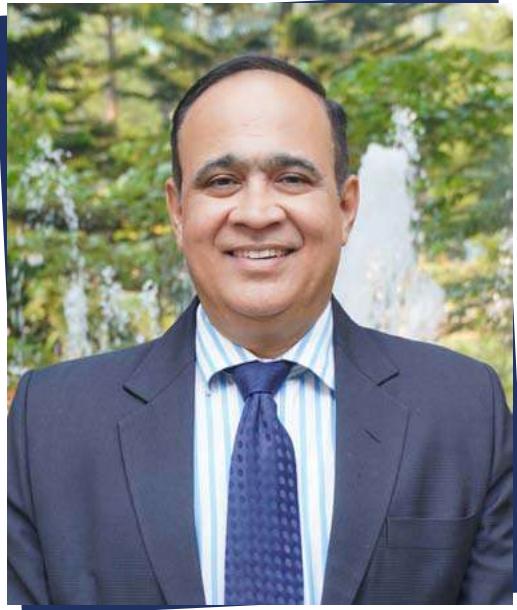

As we look ahead, let us continue to strengthen this foundation, embracing each new challenge as an opportunity for growth. With the collective support of our vibrant community, I am confident that we will continue to rise, excel, and reach new horizons.

Thank you for being an invaluable part of this ongoing journey.

With heartfelt congratulations,

Sri. Anil Kr. Modi

DR. ARUP K MUKHOPADHYAY

Dear Students, Parents, and Members of the RGS Community,

As the Class of 2026 prepares to turn the final page of their school journey, we do so with pride, gratitude, and just a hint of nostalgia—and perhaps a collective sigh of relief that the timetable, bell, and exam schedules will soon no longer chase you!

You arrived at Royal Global School as curious learners—some confident, some cautious, some convinced that homework was a global conspiracy—and today you leave as young adults who have learned to think, question, persevere, and stand for something larger than yourselves. This transformation is the true achievement we celebrate.

The Class of 2026 will be remembered as a batch that understood the value of discipline and diligence, yet never lost their sense of humour. You worked hard, sometimes grudgingly, often consistently, and ultimately purposefully. Your academic outcomes, competitive exam preparedness, and university offers reflect not just intelligence, but sustained effort, revision, and resilience. Success, as you have learned here, is rarely accidental.

From classrooms to laboratories, from sports fields to auditoriums, from leadership roles to quiet acts of kindness, you demonstrated that education is not only about performance, but about becoming a better human being. At RGS, we place character before convenience, values before vanity, and integrity before instant success—and you have lived that philosophy.

There were moments when we were firm with you—about punctuality, discipline, mobile phones, revision schedules, and expectations. If at times it felt demanding, please know this: it was never about control, but about care. We believe deeply that young people flourish when standards are high and support is stronger. You rose to those expectations, and today you stand taller because of them.

As you prepare for your Board Examinations, College entrance exams and professions across India and the world, remember this: the world may reward marks, degrees, and skills—but it will always need empathy, honesty, courage, and responsibility. Be ambitious, but remain grounded. Compete, but never compromise your values. Lead, but stay humane. And wherever you go, let it be known that you are a Royal—someone who does not do things halfway or average.

To our teachers, thank you for shaping minds and hearts with patience and purpose. To parents, thank you for your trust, partnership, and belief in holistic education, even when it demanded patience and faith.

Dear Class of 2026, you leave behind classrooms, corridors, and memories—but you carry forward a school that believes in you. Your story does not end here; it begins here. You will always be part of the Royal Global School family, and your successes, wherever they unfold, will remain our proudest moments.

Step out with confidence. Walk forward with values. And remember—once a Royal, always a Royal.

With pride, faith, and best wishes for the journey ahead,

Dr. Arup Kumar Mukhopadhyay
Director
Royal Global School

DEVANGI JALAN
Head Girl

"A school doesn't just teach you lessons - it teaches you how to live them."

My time spent in Royal Global School feels less like a series of years and more like a collection of moments - some loud with laughter, others quiet with learning. This place didn't just educate me; it shaped me. It challenged me to rise, stumble, and rise again. And in doing so, it became an irreplaceable part of who I am.

Royal Global wasn't always easy. It was demanding, relentless, and often exhausting - but it was real. Every assignment, every event, every early morning taught me something beyond academics. It taught me patience, courage, and resilience. It gave me teachers who were more than instructors - they were anchors and guiding lights, who saw potential even when I doubted myself. Their lessons went far beyond textbooks; they became the foundation on which I continue to build my choices and dreams.

And then there were the people - the friends who turned hallways into havens, who made the unbearable bearable, who made every achievement brighter and every setback softer. Those bonds are what gave colour to the long school days and meaning to every celebration.

When I think of Royal Global now, I don't just see classrooms and corridors; I see memories - the laughter before an exam, the chaos of preparations before events, the energy of performances, and the bittersweet goodbyes at the end of each term. It's strange how a place can hold so many versions of yourself - the uncertain child who walked in, and the young leader who walks out.

To the ones who will walk these halls after me - the future leaders, dreamers, and thinkers - take this with you: leadership isn't about standing above others; it's about standing with them. It's about listening, learning, and leading with empathy. There will be days that test your patience and moments that make you want to quit - don't. Every challenge life, or in this case the school, throws at you is meant to sharpen, not shatter, you.

Royal Global School gave me more than an education. It gave me purpose, direction, and the courage to become. And that's something I'll carry long after the uniforms are folded away and the corridors fall silent behind me.

SHAURYA DEEPAK KHEMKA
Head Boy

As I pen down this message, I am immediately taken over by emotions I hold for each and every one reading this. I find myself in a state of trance, consumed by disbelief, still trying to process this journey of a lifetime, one that has shaped me and the ones around me. Looking back on the twelve years I've spent at Royal Global School, while struggling to fit this book-worthy journey into just a few words, plunges me into a whirlpool of memories: the joyous moments that make me laugh, the victories that make me smile, and the quiet realisation that this is the end of an epoch, bringing tears to my eyes. It also makes me pause and think of the things we could have done better, lessons that will stay with us long after we cross those big brown gates of memory that transcend these words.

As we move forward in this beautifully crafted conundrum of esoterica called life, we must always cherish our friendships, embrace challenges, and never shy away from trying something new. It is these experiences that stay with us long after the exams are over and the celebrations have ended. The things that matter the most are not always found in books or courses, but in the introspection of the moments and experiences we share. Let us also extend our deepest gratitude to our teachers and remember them along with their values through each stage of our lives, who served not just as instructors, but as the very architects of our character, a debt of gratitude we can never truly repay.

Being the Head Boy for this session, I have realised that true success, the kind that hits you in the heart, is almost never defined by the applause you receive, but by the effort you and your team know you've put in. A badge can be pinned to your blazer for the rest of the year, but leadership has to be earned through initiative every single day. It's all about listening before speaking, understanding before judging, and serving before leading. Also, just a small message to my juniors: please balance your academics, don't be like me, pulling one-nighters and surviving on coffee with a side of panic. But if you ever do, at least make sure you've got good coffee and even better company.

But in all seriousness, to the class I am so proud to be a part of: our shared chapter in this school is now etched in its walls. It is a story of growth instilling a newfound sense of maturity, of affinity towards each other, and of collaboration. As this chapter comes to its denouement, a new one begins for each one of us. Let's step forward and write our next chapters with courage, kindness, and the unforgettable spirit that will forever bind us to the royal blue.

Farewell, Class of '26. May our paths cross again, but until then, go out and build something magnificent.

— Shaurya Deepak Khemka, Head Boy 2025–26

In 2024, when I first joined this fine institution as a hosteller, I could not have imagined the magnitude of impact this place would have on me. In the limited time I have spent within these walls and among these people, I have learned more than I ever anticipated. Mostly, they have been life lessons. Lessons about grit, about companionship and about the inevitable rugged road that life sets us on from time to time.

TOSHAI SYIEM
Head of CCA

During my time here, I have encountered people of every kind. Some simple and prosaic, and some wonderfully eccentric. Each person teaching me something or the other, grounding me and reminding me of the precious virtue of humility, or filling my life with vibrance and unpredictability each step of the way. In their own respect, everyone has contributed to the mosaic of memories I now carry within me. And along with people of every kind, I have been met with moments of all kinds. I have weathered arduous days heavy with collywobbles, doubts, and worries, and lived moments overflowing with joy, fulfillment, and a sense of satisfaction that words could never fully capture. These irreplaceable memories, both the tumultuous and the radiant, will remain with me for as long as I live. For this, I owe this school a debt of immense gratitude.

Among the many experiences this place has gifted me, one of the most defining was the chance to stand for a position in the student council. To present myself alongside other able and deserving candidates was, in itself, an honour. To be entrusted thereafter with the prestigious title of CCA Captain is something I continue to regard with genuine privilege and humility. In my stint as CCA Captain, I have strived to carry the torch of my antecedents to the best of my abilities. It has been my earnest hope that I have done justice to their legacy while forging my own.

Beyond leadership and responsibility, another dimension of my life has flourished here. My art, my lifelong passion has undeniably blossomed during my time in this school. The environment, the encouragement, the exposure, and the creative spaces I found here have all contributed to shaping my artistic identity into something more confident, more mature, and more technical. For an artist, such growth is nothing short of priceless.

As I brace myself to step beyond these gates, I do so with a heart full of gratitude. I am profoundly thankful to have been a part of this institution, to have had the opportunity to spend my time here, shaped by its values, enriched by its community, and challenged by its expectations. And above all, I am immensely proud to be graduating from a place that has given me so much, and to which I will forever remain indebted.

Serving as the Sports Captain of Royal Global School has been one of the most rewarding and defining experiences of my school life. I am Gautam Sharma, and holding this responsibility has not only strengthened my passion for sports but has also taught me what it truly means to lead, inspire, and work as part of a team. From the very beginning, this role challenged me to step forward with confidence, communicate effectively, and represent the spirit of our school with pride.

One of the greatest highlights of my captaincy was the privilege of our school hosting two CBSE Cluster tournaments. Being at the forefront of such major events allowed me to witness the scale, coordination, and dedication required to conduct competitions of this magnitude. It was a remarkable learning experience—one that gave me deeper insight into event management, teamwork, and maintaining discipline under pressure.

I would also like to acknowledge the constant support of my Deputy Sports Captain, Mriganka Kostov Borah, who stood by me as a dependable junior. Together, we organized several sporting events throughout the year and ensured that every activity upheld the values and standards of RGS.

Another memorable chapter was the successful organization of the Royal Premier League (RPL)—our school's cricket tournament that brought immense excitement and enthusiasm among students. With the guidance of our sports department and the tireless efforts of our organizing committee, RPL became a grand and unforgettable event that truly celebrated sportsmanship.

Overall, my journey as Sports Captain has shaped me into a more responsible, confident, and compassionate leader. I am grateful to my teachers, teammates, and juniors for trusting me, supporting me, and being part of this incredible experience.

Yatee Verma

Insightful Yatee

Yatee doesn't mind being remembered as the shyest in the class as she is already involved in the process of becoming a decent and productive human being. Although she doesn't talk much her aspirations are loud in her head and reflections of them are clearly visible. She is mindful of her external and internal state of being which contributes in making her more calm, confident and self-aware. Her quietness is evidence of the fact that she is actually thinking. She is very attentive to details which will serve her well in long term projects. We wish that she gives it all to become the best that she can.

We live our school life only once and indeed it's the best part of our lives. I am sure I will cherish my life in Royal Global School. I am super lucky to have such wonderful teachers who always supported me and who put in extra effort for everyone. I also made many friends who were totally supportive to me. I am going to miss them all. I also learned a lot from my years of experience in Royal Global School.

Experience at Young CEO Program by Think India Startup & Internship at Sapient Finserv

By: Arav Goel

My entrepreneurial skills were put to the ultimate test in this rigorous program, Young CEO, where our team was tasked with developing a business idea. After attending lectures from experienced startup founders and industry leaders, we engaged in thorough market research and analysed startup journeys and case studies. After gaining valuable insights, we pitched an idea for an airport navigation app that assists travellers inside the airport, from viewing their flight schedules to locating gates and shops. Securing 2nd place was highly motivating, and provided a real-world lesson, which sharpened my entrepreneurial abilities and inculcated deep industry insights.

Interning at this renowned mutual fund distributor firm, Sapient Finserv, gave me invaluable exposure to the financial markets, specifically the mutual fund market. During my time here, I learned how to analyse different funds and choose the ones that align with clients' financial goals. I analysed real client portfolios and attempted to restructure them based on my understanding, which provided me with deep insights into portfolio diversification, risk assessment, asset allocation and sustainable wealth creation. I also wrote an essay on smart investing vs FOMO investing, which was approved and printed in the company's newsletter, and received appreciation from the CEO.

Nyacia's Culinary Journey: A Flavor-Filled Adventure Through Japan

By: Nyacia Taju

My food experience during my trip to Japan was nothing short of unforgettable. One of my first stops was Café Portofino, known for its delicious burgers and hearty steak; the combination of Western comfort food with Japanese attention to detail made every bite memorable. Of course, no trip to Japan is complete without trying its famed Wagyu beef, and tasting its melt-in-the-mouth richness felt like discovering an entirely new definition of tenderness. Traditional Japanese cuisine also captivated me—fresh sushi with perfectly seasoned rice, savory Taiyaki, and the iconic street-food favorite Takoyaki, crispy on the outside and warm and creamy inside. A highlight of my journey was visiting Owakudani, where I tried kuro tamago, eggs boiled in the natural hot spring water; their black shells and the belief that eating one adds years to your life made it both a culinary and cultural experience. To finish, I indulged in a special matcha ice cream, whose earthy bitterness balanced beautifully with its smooth sweetness. Altogether, these flavors created a vivid tapestry of Japan's food culture, turning every meal into a memory I will cherish.

My Journey as a Young Digital Entrepreneur

Siddhant Sen Deka

I am not sure whether the label “entrepreneur” fits me perfectly but I primarily identify myself as a Content Creator, YouTuber, and Social Media Influencer. However, since I earn from my work on these platforms, the entrepreneurial aspect naturally becomes part of my identity. I began my YouTube journey in 2018, when I was in Class 5 and only twelve years old. At that time, I was deeply inspired by American YouTubers creating vlogs, general-knowledge content, travel videos, challenges, and food reviews. Very few people in my state were doing this, and when I saw a friend start a channel, I felt the final motivation to begin my own. My channel was first called HUSID5SSD, and today I create under my own name, SIDDHANT SEN DEKA. My first video, “HOW TO USE A CHOPSTICKS,” came from my lifelong love for food and the constant requests from friends to teach them how to use chopsticks.

Over the years, I uploaded challenge videos, gaming content, Singapore and Japan travel vlogs, study videos, and food-related content. Till date my channel has grown to 1.5k subscribers, 500k+ overall views on Shorts, and over 100k overall views on long-form videos. Modest numbers by some standards but these achievements mean a great deal to me. The real turning point came in 2022 with the launch of YouTube Shorts, where my food-review content led to receiving Shorts Funds Earnings, Paid Promotions and Collaborations. Today, I also run a food page, “FOODVANAWORLD,” on Instagram and Facebook, where I share my YouTube food reels.

None of this would have been possible without my father, who supported me from the very beginning, agreed to let me start a channel at such a young age, and even served as my first cameraman. His encouragement is the foundation of my journey, and I remain grateful every day. I know I still have a long way to go, but the journey so far has been incredibly rewarding.

P.S. As many know, I've been on a short break from YouTube because of my exams and board preparations. But a small surprise for my viewers: the “Vietnam Vlogs Series” is coming soon on my channel in Shorts Format. So don't miss the opportunity to watch it.

A Canvas of Goodbyes: The Final Day of Class 12

By Zaveri Tahsin

The last day of school on 3 December 2025 for the Class 12 students of Royal Global School was a beautiful blend of joy, nostalgia, and celebration. The campus echoed with laughter and excitement as students arrived with colourful markers and memo books, ready to create memories they would cherish for a lifetime. Shirt writing became the highlight of the morning—friends and classmates penned messages, doodles, and inside jokes on each other's uniforms, turning every shirt into a canvas of unforgettable moments. Face painting added to the cheer, as students proudly displayed symbols, names, and quirky designs that reflected their unique bonds and personalities.

Throughout the day, students also clicked countless pictures with their teachers, capturing every smile and moment of warmth. Groups gathered to record videos, and every stream proudly shouted “signing out,” echoing the bittersweet excitement of stepping into a new chapter. Adding to the emotion, everyone came together for hand painting on a board—a collective artwork that will remain as a cherished memory of the batch’s unity and spirit.

Adding to the emotional warmth of the day, the Class 11 students prepared special gifts for their seniors. Each gift carried a personalised message, written with love and admiration, wishing the Class 12 students success and happiness in the years ahead. It was a touching gesture that emphasized the spirit of togetherness and continuity within the school. As the day drew to a close, the air was filled with sentiments of gratitude and affection. Smiles mixed with teary eyes, and hugs conveyed what words couldn’t express. The last day marked not just an ending, but a celebration of friendships, growth, and precious school memories.

Here's to the batch of 2026

Written by- Reeha Bhuyan, 12B Humanities

The past five years in RGS have been a plethora of memories for me. This is the place where I've grown up as a person and it's all thanks to the ones around me. Every single individual here has molded and crafted me into the person I am today. With each passing day, I find a warmth flickering within me as I run through the pictures and memories stored in my mind. I'm thoroughly blessed to have formed such bonds and connections with my peers that shall surely last for a lifetime. I'm sure most of us here feel the same way as I do.

Moreover, I couldn't have asked for a better experience than the one I've already stored within these four walls, despite the ups and downs. From having the best laughs in the canteen to leaving our messy colourful imprints on our shirts, in that moment, I swear we were infinite.

As the familiar walls around us unravel and we step into the world of unfamiliarity and chaos, let us find refuge in the solemn memories we've created and treasure them for life because these will all be stories one day, and our pictures will become old photographs.

Enjoy it. Because it's happening.

Here's to the Class of 2026!

A Mirrorball in the Wings: My Experience in Acting

Written by - Ananya Borkotoky

My journey in acting at Royal Global School has been one of the most transformative parts of my school life. What began as simple participation in school competitions slowly grew into a deep love for theatre, storytelling, and the magic of becoming someone entirely different for a moment. Over the years, I've had the privilege of portraying a myriad of characters but RGS was where I could tap into a part of myself even I was unbeknownst to, for it was so very strikingly different from my personality. I had the honour of playing the immensely complex yet hauntingly beautiful character of Lady Macbeth for Founder's Day 2024. Portraying this character was not just an acting experience; it was the beginning of my understanding of direction, stagecraft, and leadership. From coordinating scenes to guiding my wonderful co-actors through their roles, I discovered the intricate balance between vision and teamwork. Approaching performance through a directors' lens definitely taught me patience, clarity, and the immense responsibility of turning a script into a living, breathing performance.

Stepping into Lady Macbeth's turbulent mind was intense, exhilarating, and unforgettable. Her ambition demanded emotional depth I had never explored before. I had earlier played roles which were emotionally more subdued and required more subtle and gentle acting so, this role had challenged me in more ways than one. I truly feel that it helped me hone an ability of myself I didn't even know I possessed and that has somehow made all the difference. Every rehearsal, every backstage whisper, every burst of applause has left an imprint on me. It wasn't just about performing on stage, it was about discovering pieces of myself I never knew existed.

Maybe somewhere between the lines I memorized and the spotlights I stood beneath, I found myself.

Innovation on the Pitch: Formulating RPL Cricket.

Written by - Naiteek Agarwal

My creative process in school found its proudest expression when I, along with the organising committee—Gautam, Dhruv, Sarthak, Akhilesh and Swatantra—and under the invaluable guidance of our respected HOD of Sports, Mr. Ashok Talukdar, launched The Royal Premier League, the biggest and most unforgettable cricket league of our school. What began as an idea soon evolved into a grand sporting festival, now officially recognized as a calendar event of Royal Global School. Every year, the league consists of 12 energetic teams with 96 players, each team donning its own custom-designed jersey, adding identity and excitement to the tournament. Team selection takes place through a thrilling auction, giving players a professional and transparent experience.

Throughout this journey, we witnessed countless unforgettable moments—both good and challenging. We saw true sportsmanship, surprising talents, and the versatility of our teachers who went from teaching physics and mathematics in classrooms to displaying extraordinary skills on the field. At the same time, we experienced controversies, from heated disagreements and broken stumps to players arguing with umpires. Yet, these moments only added colour to the league, and in the end, the tournament remained a thrilling, unifying, and memorable experience.

Over two successful seasons, the tournament has grown immensely, and in both years, the winning teams were led by the boarders, adding to our pride. The Man of the Tournament for season one was Diganta Mahato, while the second season's honour was claimed by Ravi Verma. I am deeply grateful to the entire organising committee, Mr. Ashok Talukdar, Mr. Diganta Mahato, Mr Lakhan Projan, and everyone who helped transform this vision into reality.

The background of the slide is a solid dark blue color. Overlaid on this background is a large, stylized, wavy grid pattern. The grid consists of thin, light blue lines that create a sense of depth and motion, resembling a digital or architectural design. It spans the width of the slide and is positioned in the lower half of the frame.
